COMPANY PROFILE

YOUR LIGHT IN THE DARKNESS. CULTURALLY GROUNDED SUPPORT.

About Us

We are a 100% black owned, 50% youth-led emerging funeral society that offers more than just monetary and affordable, quality burial support. We aim to provide compassion, emotional and spiritual presence, and a sense of community that combines culture and religion.

Like the Shembe religion, which combines faith and spirituality - with emphasis on culture, we strive to make our members feel at home by offering support rooted in the very essence of what it feels to be African.

OUR MISSION

We are committed to providing dignified, compassionate, and culturally grounded burial support that guide families through loss with clarity and respect. Inspired by the sun rays in our emblem, we strive to be a source of light, direction, and reassurance — offering support that honours tradition, uplifts the community, and preserves the dignity of every life we serve.

Meet Our Team

Henry Msibi – Co-Founder & Board Chairperson of Nkulisa Burials NPC

providing strategic oversight and spiritual guidance to the organisation. With more than 20 years of leadership experience within the church – including service as an acting reverend, church secretary, and his current role as Chairperson of the Development Committee – he brings a deep understanding of faith-based governance and community engagement.

In his role at Nkulisa Burials, Henry ensures that the organisation's practices align with cultural expectations and religious principles, guiding the team in conducting burials with dignity, respect, and adherence to tradition. His steady leadership and extensive pastoral experience support the organisation's commitment to serving families with integrity and cultural sensitivity.

Nomcebo Mkhonza – Co-Founder & Managing Director of Nkulisa Burials NPC

holds a four-year teaching qualification from the University of the Witwatersrand. Her background in education has informed her commitment to structure, ethical conduct, and compassionate engagement with the community. These principles underpin her contribution to the development and operations of Nkulisa Burials.

Nomcebo plays a key role in ensuring that the organisation delivers dignified, accessible, and reliable burial services to families in and around Newcastle. Through her steady leadership and community-focused approach, she supports the organisation's mission to provide respectful guidance and dependable service during times of loss.

Meet Our Team

Sphamandla Hadebe – Co-Founder & Executive Advisor of Nkulisa Burials NPC

providing strategic guidance, compliance oversight, and support in stakeholder engagement. As a close kin of the Hadebe Royal Family, he brings a deep appreciation for cultural protocols, community structures, and traditional leadership values. In his advisory role, Sphamandla strengthens the organisation's outreach efforts and ensures that community relations are conducted with respect, transparency, and alignment to cultural expectations. His ability to bridge organisational strategy with community needs contributes significantly to Nkulisa Burials' commitment to dignified, culturally grounded service.

Luyanda. S. Hartell : Co-founder & CHIEF OPERATING OFFICER

responsible for directing operations, strengthening internal systems, and ensuring reliable service delivery to members. Drawing on experience in business development and a growing portfolio of work in technology and process design, he brings structure, efficiency, and modernization to the organization. His approach reinforces Nkulisa's goal of operating as a discipline
